Chicago Lad Bares Basement Hanging Of Neighbor Boy, 3

Chicago, July 8 (AP)—In a dark and dingy basement of a shabby two-story building—headquarters of a boys' "Hangmen Noose Club"—a 15-year-old boy last night reenacted the hanging of a three year old neighbor boy.

The boy, Robert Munday, showed no apparent concern as he demonstrated to police the hanging of Thomas (Whitey) Laux. Some 300 persons stood silently outside the two-story building in the south side stockyards district.

Munday, the leader of the "Hangmen Noose Club," said the

Murderer Kills Himself As Priest Chants

Baltimore, July 8 (AP)—A 23-year-old murderer cheated the noose by killing himself less than 90 minutes before he was to have gone to the gallows early today at the Maryland penitentiary.

He was Roy Arnold Wood, brick-layer turned holdup man. Wood killed a Baltimore policeman last year and was sentenced to death.

The Rev. Joseph J. Ayd, S. J., penitentiary chaplain, was intoning Catholic prayers for the dying outside Wood's cell late last night.

The priest noted that the condemned man failed to give the proper responses.

Father Ayd called Warden Edward T. Swensen. They found Wood lying on the floor, limp and bleeding, but still alive.

He died a few minutes later from what Dr. Earl Royer, acting medical examiner, described as a hemorrhage due to an incise wound of the neck.

"Wood cut his jugular vein," Dr. Royer said.

The weapon used was half of a safety-razor blade. It was found lying in a hole in the blood-soaked mattress in Wood's cell.

While officials ran in and out of the cell, nine other condemned men on "death row" sat sene and silent.

One of them was Howard A. Fram, 32-year-old Kensington, Md., Baker. Fram had killed a Baltimore grocer during a robbery, and like Wood, was to have been hanged a few minutes after midnight.

Fram sat dazed in his cell until the guards came for him. Silently, he walked through the door to the death platform and was sent through the trap at 12:25 a. m. He was pronounced dead 15 minutes later.

Man Without Hands Writes Bad Check

Burbank, Calif., July 8 (AP)—Carl C. Moody, 35, who has no hands, was sentenced yesterday to 30 days in jail on a charge of writing a bad check.

Detective C. C. Taylor testified Moody demonstrated to arresting officers how he writes by holding a pen in his teeth.

Moody, whose arms are amputated at the elbows, said he passed the check to support his wife and daughter. Taylor said Moody had made restitution for the check.

death of the little, white-haired Laux boy Wednesday night was accidental. He gave police two versions of the death in the basement of his home. Earlier, his brother, Charles, 13, told police he strangled and hanged Tommy and stuffed his body into a sack where it was found yesterday morning. Later he retracted his admission and said he told the story because he was "nervous and afraid."

Chief of detectives Timothy O'Connor later said Charles' story "does not stand up." Both boys were held without charge in the juvenile detention home. State's Attorney John S. Boyle said they will be questioned further today.

At last night's reenactment of the hanging for police and state's attorney's officials, Robert admitted he put the noose around "Whitey's" neck as he prepared to initiate him into the club as a mascot. The rope was tied to a rafter.

Then, said Robert, he left the basement to get a hammer. "Whitey" with the rope around his neck was standing on a couch. The youngster was quoted by police as saying:

"I told him to wait a minute, that I had to go upstairs for a hammer. I was gone maybe 15 minutes and when I came back I found that Whitey had slipped off the couch and was kicking."

"I unfasteded him and began rubbing his neck, and then I took him upstairs and threw water on him. After a while, he didn't move and I carried him downstairs and put him in a gunny sack."

Police said that Robert told them that after putting Whitey's body in the bag he put it on top of a pile of boxes. He threw away the rope in the neighborhood, he said, and returned home although he had planned to go to a movie. He said he "couldn't sleep all night."

In an earlier version of the Laux boy's death, police said Robert related he kicked a box from

Hawaiian Pineapple Tinplate Unloaded

Court Order Eases Pinch Caused By Dock Strike

Honolulu, July 8 (AP)—A federal court order today eased the squeeze of the 69-day waterfront strike on the vast pineapple industry of Hawaii.

Judge J. Frank McLaughlin ordered 27,000 tons of tinplate unloaded under the U. S. marshal's protection from the freighter Hawaiian Citizen. That is about one-tenth of the tin needed to finish canning the pineapple crop.

Both the union and employers who are at grips in the waterfront strike, opposed another kind of federal intervention—a bill introduced in Washington by Senator Knowland (R-Calif.).

This measure would allow President Truman to select a board of inquiry to make recommendations for settling the strike. He could ask both sides to accept the board's findings as binding.

Pineapple companies have reported that half the summer crop, worth more than $25,000,000, would rot if tinplate for cans was not unloaded.

The 2,000 Stevedores of Hawaii struck May 1. They asked an increase of 32 cents an hour to their current wage of $1.40. Employers offered 12 cents. An attempt Tuesday to get negotiations going again got nowhere.

New York Spy Trial Of Judy Coplon Put Off Until Oct. 15

New York, July 8 (AP)—The espionage trial of Judith Coplon and Russian engineer Valentin Gubitchev has been put off until Oct. 15.

The case, scheduled to start July 11, was adjourned yesterday because of the unavailability now of a judge in the Southern Federal District of New York to preside at the trial.

The move was announced by Federal Judge William Bondy after an hour-long session with opposing attorneys.

Miss Coplon, now free on a total of $40,000 bail, was convicted in Washington on charges of spying for Russia. She was sentenced to a 40 months to 10 years prison term. Her attorney announced an appeal of the verdict.

BAY WINDOW CABOOSE—Car No. 12486 is the first bay window caboose assigned to the Peninsula division of the Chicago and North Western railway and is now the prized possession of Condr. Maurice E. Powers, 704 South 15th street. The C&NW is substituting the bay window for the cupola in its new "crummies." Conductor Powers started railroading 39 years ago and was promoted to conductor in 1915. He is employed in the ore train pool between Escanaba, Stambaugh, Ishpeming and Crystal Falls.

Housing Bill First Major Victory For Truman "Fair Deal"

Washington, July 8 (AP)—Congress today completed action on multi-billion dollar long range housing legislation and sent it to President Truman.

The Senate shouted approval of the compromise measure shortly after the House okayed it by a voice vote.

That gave Mr. Truman the first major victory for the far-flung domestic program he calls the "fair deal."

The legislation sent Mr. Truman provides for a vast slum clearance program and sets up funds for farm housing aids.

It also provides for 810,000 public housing units.

Meanwhile, Chairman Spence (D-Ky.) of the house Banking Committee, introduced a bill—understood to have administration backing—to enlarge federal help for construction of privately owned homes.

Spence said his committee will open hearings on the bill Monday.

The big housing measure, ready for final action today, as a compromise, trimmed-down version of what Mr. Truman requested. But it still calls for construction of 810,000 publicly-owned dwellings in six years, with annual federal rent subsidies running up to $308,000,000 a year for the low-income families who will occupy them.

Andrew Sheridan, 56, of Jersey City, N. J., and John M. Dunn, 36, of New York, died in the prison chair six minutes apart.

They were convicted of murdering boss Stevedore Anthony Hintz in a Greenview village apartment two years ago. The slaying, Sheridan said later, was "just like ordering a cup of coffee—no more trouble than that."

Neither of the two made any statement. Dunn went to his death without offering to "talk" about waterfront crime.

The New York district attorney's office had been alerted to send a man to the death house in case Dunn volunteered to talk.

A third man convicted in the case, Daniel Gentile, 40, a one-time boxer, was saved from the chair on the eve of the execution.

Governor Thomas E. Dewey commuted his sentence to life imprisonment after being told Gentile had given valuable information about crime along the city's sprawling waterfront.

Hintz, boss Stevedore of a Manhattan pier, was ambushed in his second-floor apartment Jan. 8, 1947. Six bullets were fired into his body as he sat with his slewing chair.

Hintz died a few days later at a hospital.

The murder, authorities said, came from a waterfront quarrel over control of hiring and firing at the pier where Hintz was boss.

Canada And U.S.A. Join In Conference On Dollar Shortage

Crisis May Be Blow To American Exports

(By The Associated Press)

Economic chiefs of the United States, Canada and Britain conferred in London today on the British financial crisis.

U. S. Secretary of Treasury John W. Snyder told newsmen, just before leaving Paris for the London talks, that he would discuss "basic policies of the recovery program" intended to help make world trade freer.

Sir Stafford Cripps, chancellor of the Exchequer, is representing Britain at the talks and finance minister Douglas Abbott is representing Canada—the only dollar country in the British commonwealth.

BARTER WITH RUSSIA

London, July 8 (AP)—Dollar-short Britain has secretly agreed to buy nearly 1,000,000 tons of coarse grains from Russia in the next year, official sources disclosed today.

The informants added that part of a barter deal agreement was initiated in private in Moscow last week—a few days before Britain's economic planners announced a three-month standstill on dollar spending.

These three-nation talks are the first of a series of financial conferences aimed at solving not only Britain's problems but providing a basis for prosperous international trading on a global scale.

Trade Off Balance

Cripps, in his report to the British nation this week, said: "We must seek together a long-term remedy for the stubborn

Atlantic Pact May Be World Alliance Against Aggression

Washington, July 8 (AP)—A brand new plan to transform the North Atlantic Pact into a world-wide alliance against aggression turned up today on Capitol Hill.

Senator Mundt (R-SD), one of a group of senators sponsoring it, said would throw open the North Atlantic Pact to any nation agreeing to the principles of free Democratic nations.

But members, Mundt said, would agree to: (1) No veto powers such as Russia has been using often in the United Nations; (2) No military use of atomic bombs; (3) International control of atomic energy; and (4) an international police force.

Senate leaders hope to reach a final vote on the North Atlantic Pact itself either Monday or Tuesday. Fewer than a dozen senators oppose it. Some, however, want assurance their vote for the pact will not commit them to voting for the rearmament of Europe.

Mundt said the world-wide pact plan would be offered as a resolution in connection with the arms-to-Europe program which President Truman is expected to send to Congress next week.

Army Worms Eat Downstate Crops; Invasion Spreads

East Lansing, July 8 (AP)—Returning from a tour of the battlefield, Dr. Ray James, Michigan State College entomologist, put a damper on earlier reports that an invasion of army worms was being successfully encircled.

Reporting two new outbreaks, Dr. James said it now appears that the invasion "has yet to reach its height."

The worms were reported in new attacks in fields in the Owosso area and in Bay County.

Prof. Ray Hutson, head of the college entomology department, reported earlier that the Thumb and Saginaw Bay area invasions apparently were slowed by counter offensives of DDT and other poison warfare weapons.

However, Dr. James said the worms were proving difficult to get at with insecticides. They start feeding at night and during the day hide under rubbish in the fields.

Best results, he reported, are obtained when the embattled farmers resort to night warfare.

Barn And 2 Homes Destroyed By Fires

Farmer Near Saginaw Loses Livestock

Saginaw, Mich., July 8 (AP)—Fires destroyed two homes and an elderly farmer's barn and livestock in this area yesterday and last night.

The victim included a young couple and 70-year-old John Urbanski, farmer near Fosters, south of here.

The latter lost livestock and property valued at $12,000 in a blaze last night after he had hauled in hay.

Volunteer firemen from Birch Run fought the blaze until after midnight. The loss included six calves, two horses and a sow and seven pigs as well as a new tractor.

No cause for the fire was determined.

There was an ironic twist to one of the other fires.

While a new electric stove stood unconnected in the kitchen, sparks from a kerosene stove set a blaze that destroyed the home of William Frost, 20, and his 18-year-old wife Ruth yesterday.

Mrs. Frost was using the kerosene stove to prepare lunch.

The young couple said the loss would be about $3,000, including a new refrigerator that also was newly delivered. The electric stove was destroyed.

Their one-story home was five miles southwest of Saginaw.

About the same time, a similar fire destroyed the two-story farm home of Frank Barajas, 35, about six miles north of here.

That blaze was believed to have started when chimney sparks landed on the building's tarpaper roof.

At the time 15-year-old Ebbie Barajas, the owner's son, and a neighbor youth were cooking lunch on the kitchen stove. Young Barajas suffered minor burns while carrying a few belongings from the blazing building.

Youth Rescues Girl From Armed Thug in Grand Rapids Park

Grand Rapids, July 8 (AP)—A youth who turned on the ignition of his car before surrendering the keys to an armed bandit was credited by police today with saving his 19-year-old girl companion from possible criminal assault.

Deputy Sheriff Leo Strophaul said that Erwin Parker, 22, and the girl, whose name was withheld, were accosted by the armed thug and robbed of $2 near Johnson Park early today.

Apparently angered at the small amount of cash, the thug forced his way into the back seat of the car and ordered the couple to drive to a more secluded spot, Strophaul was told.

There he forced the girl out of the car, ordered her to disrobe, and flourishing his gun, demanded the car keys. Parker surrendered them after first turning on the ignition.

Strophaul said that when the bandit turned away Parker started the motor and drove in a circle as the bandit pursued him on foot. Slowing down as he neared the girl, Parker opened the car door, the girl jumped in, and they sped away.

Later the couple took officers to the spot where the girl's clothing was recovered, the deputy said.

Link For Michigan Peninsulas Studied By New Commission

Lansing, July 8 (AP)—The Inter-Peninsula Communications Commission, appointed by Governor Williams to discover ways of bringing Michigan's two peninsulas closer together, will hold its first meeting at Mackinac Island Tuesday noon.

The members and Governor Williams, their host, will fly over the Straits of Mackinac to study the physical aspects of linking the peninsulas and later will analyze all available reports on the proposed bridge, tunnel, and shortened ferry route.

The executive office said that John H. McCarthy, chairman of the Michigan Public Service Commission who also heads the Inter-Peninsula agency, has appointed Charles E. Hayes of East Lansing as secretary of the body.

Steel Dispute Causes Worry In Washington

Pittsburgh, July 8 (AP)—A deeply concerned federal government moved today to prevent a threatened nationwide steel strike.

The government's growing anxiety became apparent last night when Cyrus S. Ching, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, summoned Philip Murray, president of the United Steel Workers, and John A. Stephens, vice president of the U. S. Steel Corp., to meet in Washington on Monday.

Both Murray and Stephens promptly agreed to answer the call.

Murray also repeated his charge that the steel corporation was responsible for the impasse in negotiations that for the last two days had made a steel strike a strong possibility on July 16.

The U. S. Steel-USW negotiations—in recent years a major factor in the wage agreements reached by other industries—bogged down last Wednesday.

Benjamin F. Fairless, U. S. Steel president, rejected the steelworkers' demand for a fourth round post-war wage boost. Previously he turned down the union's demands for pensions for its 800,000 members.

Murray quickly called a meeting of his policy committee here next Tuesday. This committee has the power to call a steel strike.

The USW leader said that his past refusal to sign a non-Communist affidavit would be brought up for consideration at the committee meeting. Should he and other USW officials sign such affidavits, the steelworkers union could make use of the national labor relations board machinery in charging U. S. Steel with an unfair labor practice in refusing to bargain on pensions.

Police Trace Huge Drug Ring In Italy

Rome, July 8 (AP)—Charles "Lucky" Luciano, onetime New York vice king, will be "exiled" to a village in Sicily "because his presence in Rome is a crime threat," Italian authorities announced today.

The 51-year-old Sicilian was picked up yesterday in his fashionable Rome apartment. He was questioned in connection with an international drive on drug traffic, but "no evidence was found against him," police said.

Nevertheless, they said, he will be sent to the tiny village of Lerara Friddi, near Palermo.

The village was his home once before. When Luciano was deported from the United States in 1947 and arrived here, he was restricted to Sicily. Later, however, he was permitted to circulate freely.

Luciano was questioned for hours yesterday in a Rome jail about possible links with an international drug ring. The ring was uncovered June 25 with the arrest at Rome airport of a man identified as Charles Vincent Turpia of New York. Police said Turpia was carrying about 200 pounds of cocaine, valued at $500,000.

Portuguese Crowd Churches To Pray For Better Weather

Lisbon, Portugal, July 8 (AP)—Portuguese crowded into churches today to pray for an end to the erratic weather which has afflicted the country for a week.

There was panic in Vila Real when a tempest struck the town. Forest trees were uprooted by a landslide and cattle were drowned in flooded streams.

Portugal has had a series of heat waves, thunder storms, cyclonic winds and hail storms. More than a score of persons have lost their lives as a result of the freak weather.

Murray in going to Washington Monday will also be present for the unveiling there of an economic report by former government economist Robert Nathan.

Nathan, engaged to make the report by the CIO, has not disclosed how much of a raise he wants for his steelworkers who now average $1.65 an hour, including three increases ranging from 13 to 18½ cents in the last three years.

As matters now stand, the U. S. Steel negotiations are at a standstill. The corporation is the only one to date to answer the union's demands but U. S. Steel normally sets the trend for the rest of the industry.

The Steel contract does not expire until next year, but a clause permitted reopening of wage discussions this summer with July 16 the strike deadline if no agreement is reached.

Murray has described a wage boost as "an absolute essential."

NEW TAXICAB LAW OFFERED

Stricter Regulation Is Proposed Here

A new taxicab ordinance designed to tighten restrictions on the operation of cabs in Escanaba was presented to the city council Thursday night and accepted for first reading.

The new ordinance requires the issuance of a certificate of necessity and convenience before a taxicab license may be issued and provides for complete investigation of the character, habits, experience, etc., of the applicant. It also sets up more rigid requirements for cab drivers.

Police investigations every four months of licensed taxicabs is provided for in the proposed ordinance, as well as a requirement that local rates be conspicuously posted in each licensed cab operating in the city.

Revocation of licenses by police authority is permitted for law violations or for improper conduct of cab drivers. Appeals to the council are permitted.

Pressure On Dulles To Run For Senate Seat In December

By JACK BELL

Washington, July 8 (AP)—A Republican search for a New York senatorial candidate began all over again today as John Foster Dulles agreed to take over for a while the seat vacated by Democratic Senator Robert F. Wagner. Despite signs that some pressure will be put on him to run in November, Dulles all but closed the door on what would be his first campaign for political office.

Appointed yesterday by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey (whom he advised on foreign affairs in two presidential campaigns), Dulles said it doesn't expect to serve beyond December 1. He is expected to be sworn in today.

Whoever wins the November special election could be expected to take over by December 1 for the remainder of Wagner's term ending in January, 1951.

Dewey's action in appointing Dulles, was looked upon here as an admission that the Republicans are having trouble finding a suitable man or woman for a race that may provide a tip-off on how the balloting can be expected to go in next year's major party battle for control of Congress.

Speculation on the nominee, to be chosen in a September state GOP convention, has ranged a wide field.

The names most often heard here, however, are those of Robert F. Patterson, former secretary of war; Owen J. Roark, who headed the Wendell Willkie clubs in 1940; William J. Donovan, wartime head of the office of strategic services and Mary Donlon, New York state official.

Dewey apparently went against the advice of Senator Ives (R-NY) and some other GOP leaders in picking Dulles for a temporary tenure.

Ives was reported to have urged that the post be given to someone who could start running now for election in November instead of holding up the campaign until after the September convention.

Dewey made it clear, however,

Baby Girl, 14 Months, Drowns In Bark River

The vacationtime pleasure of the Paul Simonson family of Brooklyn, N. Y., ended tragically yesterday evening when Lynn Marie, 14 months, their youngest daughter, drowned in the storm-swollen Bark River 12 miles south of Escanaba.

Mrs. Simonson, her daughters Lynn Marie and JoAnn, and her brother, Vincent Olson, and other members of the family have been vacationing at Brook Lawn cottage, owned by Mrs. Simonson's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Gideon Olson of Detroit. They arrived about three weeks ago.

The cottage is located on the bay shore near Fuller Park at the mouth of the Bark River.

Last evening about 6 o'clock Lynn Marie disappeared from the group and, her absence being noticed in less than five minutes, a search was made for her. Members of the family waded down the fast-flowing river, swollen by recent rains, and found her body near the river mouth.

Artificial respiration was applied by her uncle, Vincent Olson, who is a physical education instructor in an Eastern college. His efforts were unsuccessful and the child was rushed to St. Francis hospital, where she was admitted at 6:25 p. m. She was reported dead upon arrival there. Lynn Marie was born in May, 1946, in Brooklyn, N. Y. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Simonson, and other survivors are her sister, JoAnn, and her maternal grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. Gideon Olson of Detroit.

Mr. Simonson, the father, and Dr. Olson, were scheduled to arrive in Escanaba today by plane.

The body was taken to the Anderson funeral home. Funeral arrangements are incomplete today, awaiting arrival of the father and grandfather.

Dr. Gideon Olson and his family are well known in this community. They have relatives in Escanaba and Gladstone and have vacationed here annually for many years. They first had a summer home at Gladstone and a few years ago purchased the Brook Lawn cottage at Bark River. Dr. Olson was pastor of the Bethlehem Lutheran church in Brooklyn before being transferred to Detroit.

Driver Is Held In US-41 Crash Death

Menominee, Mich.—Mrs. Gustave Nelson, 37, of Chicago, the former Miss Clarabelle Sunstrom of Menominee, was almost instantly killed at 7:15 p. m. Wednesday in a head-on collision of cars driven by her husband, a Chicago accountant, and Joseph Burie, former Menominee resident who operates a farm south of Carbondale. The accident occurred on US-41 about two miles north of the city limits.

Mrs. Nelson was in the front seat with her husband and was holding her 22-months-old son, Michael, on her lap. When the cars collided the child fell to the floor under the dashboard and the mother, in trying to protect the child, was pitched head first through the windshield. The broken glass severed the carotid artery in the neck and probably causing almost instant death, according to physicians. Her skull was also fractured.

The United States did not develop commercial production of peanuts until after the Civil War when their food value was emphasized by the short rations of the time.

MORE PAVING JOBS OKEHED

Street Improvements In City Are Sought

No objections were offered to a series of paving project proposals before the Escanaba city council Thursday night and the council approved the projects as petitioned. Several other paving petitions also were presented to the council.

Projects approved include the following: 1400 block on S. 13th street; Ninth avenue south from 16th to 18th streets; 18th street from Fourth avenue to Fifth avenues south; First avenue north from 17th to 19th streets; Seventh avenue south from 15th to 16th streets.

Assessments were approved for the following paving improvement projects: First avenue north from 19th to 20th streets and 18th street south from Eighth avenue to Ninth avenues.

New paving project proposals also were received for Fourth avenue south from 11th street to 14th street, Ninth avenue south from 18th to 19th streets, Seventh avenue south between 14th and 15th street and 19th street north between Fourth and Fifth avenues.

The second reading of an ordinance to vacate 18th street south from Sixth to Seventh avenues was included on the council agenda Thursday. Objections will be heard by the council at the meeting scheduled for July 21.

A petition for water main extensions on Eighth avenue from 19th to 23rd streets was presented, but action was delayed because the petition did not bear signatures of 50 per cent of the property owners. The petitioners were asked to secure additional signatures.

Drive-In Theatre Will Be Erected In Rapid River

Rapid River—Fifteen acres of land on the west side of US-41 near the intersection of US 41 and 2 have been leased by Napoleon Boudah to Frank C. Chivers and Walter Radloff of Detroit, who will erect an open air drive-in theatre on the site. The lease limits the use of the land to an open air theatre only.

Work of setting posts for the fence enclosure will begin next weekend and the drive-in will be in operation within six weeks.

Radloff is a Michigan man who recently returned from Florida where he operated a restaurant. Chivers owns a restaurant in St. Clair Shores, a suburb of Detroit.

Savaiano Ordered Held for Murder

Menominee, Mich. — James Savaiano, 40, Chicago, was held to circuit court for trial on a charge of murdering his divorced wife, Juliana, 33, here on the night of June 17, at a preliminary examination before Municipal Judge Wilfred J. Hupy this morning. Bail is not permitted in first degree murder cases and Savaiano was remanded to the county jail to await trial before Circuit Judge Glenn W. Jackson when the summer term opens Aug. 8.

Mrs. Savaiano was shot three times while climbing the stairs to her third-floor apartment in the Menominee Drug building at Ogden and Sheridan roads. She died in St. Joseph's hospital 16 hours later without regaining consciousness.

Savaiano did not take the stand at today's hearing. After Prosecuting Attorney Victor A. Lundgren, Jr., rested the state's case, Savaiano's counsel, Attorney John J. O'Hara, said the defense would present no testimony at the preliminary hearing. Dressed in a yellow sport T-shirt and light summer trousers, Savaiano sat quietly at the side of O'Hara, intently following the testimony of state witnesses. He maintained the calm he has shown since the shooting and only once expressed emotion.

Prosecutor Lundgren, handing the gun that fired the fatal shots to Police Captain Anton Jensen for identification, facetiously remarked: "I'm kind of scared of that thing" and Savaiano joined in the general courtroom laughter.

Old Jesse Says Ford Shot Charlie Bigelow

By ROBERT C. RUARK
Stanton, Mo.—The old man who looks, acts, and talks like Jesse James, and who claims, at 102 years of age, to be Jesse James, says that the man who was killed and buried as Jesse James was a fellow named Charlie Bigelow.

The suspicion among the people who have unearthed him is that the killing was a cold frame-up, designed to allow Jesse to escape, and that there was plenty of political help in the operation.

But the white bearded old invalid will not admit much along those lines. He will not attempt to explain the murder of the man named Bigelow by the Freres Ford, nor will he venture an opinion as to why both Fords and his brother, Frank, were immediately pardoned by Gov. Tom Crittenden of Missouri.

"But if that'd been me Bob Ford shot," he says, "Frank would have killed him and Charlie both."

The old man says he had him a string of runnin' horses, and two come down with distemper. "I fetched 'em to St. Joe to isolate 'em," he said. "I had a house there I wasn't usin' for a spell, not until some runnin' races at Excelsior Springs."

"This fellow Charlie Bigelow looked enough like me to be my twin, and he was huntin' a house. I told him and his wife they could use my place for a spell, until after the races, and he moved in."

"One day I was out in the barn doctorin' my horses when I heard a gunshot in the house. When I heard that gun go off I knowed it wasn't no play-party, because we argued with guns in them days. I run into the house and there was Bob Ford, standing over Bigelow with a gun in his hand and blood on the floor."

"I said to Ford: 'looks like you killed him, Bob,' and Bobs says: 'looks like I did, Jesse.' Then I says: 'This is my chance, Bob, you tell 'em it's me you killed. You tell my mother to say so, and you take care of that Bigelow woman. I'm long gone.'"

Went to Brazil

The old man says he got on one of his horses—a good horse, a four-mile horse—and he lit out. He says he went to Kansas City to Memphis to New Orleans, where he took a boat for Brazil. He kicked around South America for a spell and came home, and then went to Mexico. He settled later in Oklahoma, and claims to have been elected, under the name of J. Frank Dalton, to the territorial legislature. He later moved to Texas.

Mr. Dalton, or Mr. James, says it was real easy to escape detection since he had either been in Quantrill's raiders or had lived the restricted life of an outlaw for 19 years, from his 15th birthday on. Few people knew him well, many were dead, others had their mouths sealed, and it was vast country. He says he visited his son only once, when the boy was about 20 and working in a Kansas City cigar store. The son is now in an institution in California.

The fiery old boy's white goatee bristles when he speaks of the enlargement on the Jesse James legend. "I went to see a movie about me, once," he says, "I left after 15 minutes. And that damn' silly business about me standing on a chair to hang a picture. You've all be in that house in St. Joe," he said to a surrounding circle. "You know what a low ceiling it's got. Why would a man as tall as me be standing on so-and-so chair to hang a picture when I could do it easier standing on the floor?"

Must Have Been Around
Ancient Jesse James, if that he be, does not seem to care whether anybody believes him or not, and often sulks up and will talk to no one. Only the people around him—Frank Hall, his discoverer, and Lester Dill, a kindly man who provides the old gent with a home and medical attention, seems fanatically interested in nailing down the legend.

If the old man has not been proven, he has not yet been disproven, and there is certainly a chance that he is all he says. I prefer to hope that he is telling the truth. For Jesse James or no Jesse James, that old boy in the Ozarks bin had a tremendous life. He didn't buy those bullet scars at the store, or his skill with a six-gun out of a dime novel. Nor did the son of the late governor of Missouri have J. Frank Dalton write the history of the James gang just because he liked the name of Dalton. If the old man wasn't there, those 67 years ago, he was certainly thereabouts.

WC News Articles Slightly Misleading

A series of articles published this week in the Milwaukee Journal outlined the operation of the Wisconsin Central Airlines. The articles reviewed the company's problems in establishing its routes and gave a progress report of the company's operations.

In general the articles were very informative and, on the whole, we have little doubt the information was factually correct. On one point, however, the WC stories were in error, apparently the result of information supplied the Journal by the airline.

Wisconsin Central reported that it plans to extend its air service to the Upper Peninsula of Michigan "as soon as the airports on its route are approved by the CAA." Wisconsin Central has conveyed this information to the public for many months before and after receiving its franchise. More recently, however, the airline conceded that the improvement of airports in the peninsula is not the major stumbling block to expansion of air service to Northern Michigan. Wisconsin Central insisted, first, that the peninsula cities to be served rake up $50,000 in capital for the company.

At a recent meeting in Escanaba, the representatives of the Upper Peninsula cities on Wisconsin Central's franchised route unanimously rejected the proposal. The next move is up to the airline. Most Upper Peninsula cities already have completed expensive airport improvement projects and are ready for airmail service now.

It is distinctly unfair for Wisconsin Central to continue its propaganda that the thing holding up air route extension to the Upper Peninsula is the status of our airports. We have the airports but we still do not have Wisconsin Central air service.

Better Livestock Exhibits At Fair

STATEWIDE competition in all livestock departments except dairy cattle and poultry at the Upper Peninsula State Fair in Escanaba this year should be welcomed by Upper Peninsula farmers and by non-farmer patrons of the fair.

Several livestock departments, such as swine and beef cattle, have not had a large number of exhibits in recent years. Opening these departments to Lower Peninsula livestock breeders will materially increase the number of such exhibits as well as the quality. Upper Peninsula farmers then will have an opportunity to improve their own stock.

It is not possible to open the dairy cattle and poultry departments to state-wide competition because available stall space at the fairgrounds is already fully utilized by the Upper Peninsula exhibitors.

The development of beef cattle in the Upper Peninsula is being promoted by a number of farmers and strengthening of this department at the U. P. State Fair should be a potent factor in encouragement of beef production in the area.

Planning Must Be Done Correctly

SOMETIME ago President Truman made a speech in defense of economic planning. He granted that planning was a word that scared certain people. But his contention was that these frightened people were confusing planned economy with controlled economy. The president himself, unless we misread him, seems to see a sharp division between the two.

Yet planning implies a preparation for action. And in a planned course of action there are components that must be directed in such a way that the action comes out according to plan. Otherwise there wouldn't seem to be much sense in planning in the first place.

It may be that Mr. Truman meant that a planned economy is one in which the government draws up a blueprint and private business voluntarily undertakes the action, with its accompanying controls. A controlled economy, by Mr. Truman's definition, might be one in which the government would guide the course of action only if business refused to co-operate or failed to achieve the government's economic goal.

This might explain the "stand-by controls" that Mr. Truman requested in his State of the Union message. These are part of his economic planning, but apparently are only for use in emergency.

Nobody wants a depression, of course, because nobody gains anything by it in the long run. But can the government guarantee a preventive? At present, the answer would certainly be no. Government means not only the executive branch but also congress, which writes the laws and does out the money. And the last time we looked, there were several divergent economic viewpoints in both these departments.

Some government economists are worrying about a depressing drop in prices and employment. They produce figures to justify their fears. Others say the danger is still inflation. They also cite figures to prove their point.

To some people planning, like nationalization, is a sort of magic, cure-all word. But planning is simply the opinion of an individual or group of individuals.

There are all sorts of economic planning going on in government today. But who are the planners? How have their economic prophecies panned out? What is their objective now? What is the evidence that it is the right one? Mr. Truman and congress will have to agree on the answers to those questions. It obviously isn't enough just to have a planned economy. It must be correctly planned.

U. S. Steel Rejects Wage Increase

THE U. S. Steel corporation's flat rejection of a union proposal for a fourth round wage increase has brought fears of a costly steel strike, perhaps beginning July 16. The union wage policy committee will meet July 13 to consider the possibility of calling steel workers from their jobs.

A new wave of wage boosts, which almost certainly would follow if U. S. Steel yielded to the union demands, would be ruinous to the country. Prices of most commodities are beginning to return from the stratosphere. Consumer demand has slackened. It is difficult to comprehend the reasoning behind the present wage boost. The reduction in living costs in recent months is in itself a wage boost for the nation's wage earners.

Perhaps no other industry affects the economic status of the country to the degree that the steel industry does. Virtually every important non-food commodity is processed from steel or a steel by-product. A rise in the cost of steel, inevitable if a substantial wage boost is granted, would affect the cost of countless items. Further, the tide of comparable wage demands in other industries would add further upward pressures to prices and start in motion once again the inflationary spirals from which we are only now emerging.

The big labor unions, for some peculiar reason, have not yet learned the lesson that it is not necessarily a high wage rate that brings prosperity, but rather what the paycheck will buy in terms of food, clothing, rent, recreation, luxury, etc. When wage boosts are promptly offset by proportionate price boosts, as they always are when wage increases are not predicated upon increased production, the wage earner is no better off than he was before the wage increase. Usually he is in a worse position because prices have a way of ascending even more rapidly than wages.

Most sound-reasoning Americans, including the rank and file wage earners, will support the U. S. Steel's position on this issue.

WILLIAMS DROPS GRIES (Grand Rapids Press)

Walter F. Gries' 10 years of outstanding public service on the state social welfare commission has ended. His term expired June 30. Gov. Williams has named Paul L. Adams of Sault Ste. Marie to succeed Gries.

Little is known of Adams' qualifications for the position. Former Soo mayor, one-time chairman of the Soo's civil defense committee and a member of the national economic warfare board, Adams may have some talent for handling welfare problems but it doesn't appear on the record. Michigan knew what it could expect from Gries. In the 10 years he served on the commission he revealed a consistently enlightened, sympathetic knowledge of welfare-relief problems. In the entire decade no one ever had reason to bring up the subject of Gries' politics. That was something that never colored his opinions or decisions.

Adams was Gov. Williams' second choice for the welfare post. The governor wanted Mrs. Margaret Price of Ypsilanti, the Democratic candidate for auditor general last fall. Mrs. Price wasn't eligible for the job because she had lived in the state less than the five years required under the welfare act. Adams apparently was selected to offset some of the criticism for dumping Gries who, like Adams, comes from the upper peninsula. We can only hope that Adams is as conversant as Gries has been with upper Michigan's special relief problems. Meanwhile it would be in order for the people of Michigan to salute Gries for the wholly commendable part he has played in giving the state sound, clean welfare administration this last decade.

The Greeks enjoyed wrestling 2500 years ago—and they're still welcome to it.

WHAT DICTIONARY SHOULD I BUY?

Many readers ask me to state in this column which dictionary I consider the best. That is almost like asking the old question: How long is a piece of rope?

There are many dictionaries on the market. All have their good points and their not-so-good points. Some are woefully out of date. Others are not sound on pronunciation. Still others are confusing and ambiguous because of too complicated or unintelligible phonetic symbols.

They come in various sizes from the large unabridged editions to the desk-size. They range in price from a few dollars to $25 or more.

These and other reasons make it impossible for me to say, "The best dictionary is the . . ." It would be like a doctor's saying, "The best medicine is . . ."

Washington. — Prescriptions to revive a slightly ailing economy are raining down like leaves in the fall. They come from every side and some bear perfectly obvious political labels.

While theoretically the president's council of economic advisers functions in a stratosphere far above politics, that is actually not the case at all. The politics of this recession could not be excluded from the council table, which is one reason it took so long to come up with a final report that the president could approve.

The main pressures come from opposite directions. From the New Deal wing of the Democratic majority in congress have come repeated recommendations for the familiar prescription of public works and public investment after the formula of the British economist, the late John Maynard Keynes.

A new Keynesian package has been presented to the White House by three senators, John Sparkman of Alabama, James Murray of Montana and Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota. It calls for the authorization of at least $15,000,000,000 of federal funds, part of which would be used not for direct spending but to guarantee private investment. Of the three presidential advisers, Leon Keyserling leans most strongly in this direction.

WANT TRUMAN TO WAIT

At the other pole from this well-advised formula is the counsel of a group close to the president which has been cautioning him against rushing in with drastic measures before they are really necessary. They argue that no proper fire department would rush all equipment to put out what is as yet no more than a smudge.

This counsel comes, above all, from the federal reserve board. Almost unnoticed by the general public the board has in recent months taken a series of steps to ease credit and counter deflationary trend.

Controls over consumer installment credit have been relaxed. Stock market requirements were reduced and member bank reserve requirements were lowered, releasing about $1,200,000,000 of reserves. These steps all have been taken in the hope of releasing the normal forces of recovery inherent in the system itself.

As the argument has been put up to the president, and it seems to make eminent good sense, timing is of the essence in the present situation. To rush in with a mustard plaster of public works before the patient really needs such a drastic remedy is to take a serious risk. What the eager prescribers seem to forget is that the circumstances of 1949 are quite different from the circumstances of the early New Deal era when the public-spending-through-public-works concept was first tried out. Then the public debt was only $22,500,000,000.

250 BILLION IN DEBT

Today with a public debt of $250,000,000,000 there are definite limits on deficit financing. It could not be pushed far without producing a reaction that might be exactly the opposite of the one desired.

This, of course, is where timing is so essential. To exhaust all the remedies before they were really necessary would be to face the possibility of a grave crisis with nothing to combat it. The firemen, having emptied all the chemical extinguishers on the smudge, would be helpless in the face of a serious blaze.

At the two political extremes there is a determination to exploit the recession. Henry Wallace's Progressive party begins a statement with, "A full-blown depression is underway in the United States." That is a fine example of wishful thinking. It is also an example of the kind of propaganda best suited to the purposes of the Soviet Union, which seeks to create the impression that this country is sinking rapidly in an economic bog.

At the other extreme, southern Democrats of the type of Senator Walter George of Georgia and ultra-conservative and reactionary Republicans talk about government economy and a balanced budget. They talk in this way as though the tragedy of Herbert Hoover and his futile effort to balance the budget in the face of falling revenue had never occurred. Government economy is imperative, but an effort to make outgo narrowly match income will merely aggravate the present difficulty.

What would be most effective at this moment would be a substantial cut in the taxes of individuals. But, by its hasty and ill-advised action in slashing taxes a year ago, the 80th congress threw away that remedy and fanned the fire of inflation which was then burning most fiercely. If an example of bad timing were needed, there it is.

I shall be glad, however, to help you select the dictionary that will best serve your particular need. Write to me in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed stamped envelope. Tell me briefly what you need a dictionary for. I'll try to recommend the right one for you at a price you can afford to pay.

I frequently mention "the elderly dictionaries." By that I mean those dictionaries which have become largely obsolete because of lack of revision. Dictionaries are as people do.

The American language is undoubtedly the world's liveliest and fastest changing. Dictionaries need to have very nimble legs and minds to keep up with the language. Your old Whosis 1918 cannot serve you reliably in 1949. It belongs in the attic with the other castoff things.

Remember When It Used to Make You Drool?

Good Evening By Clint Dunathan

YOU AND MONEY—Scarcely a day passes that, somewhere in the nation, an aged recluse does not die in squalor and apparent poverty—with $563,724.35 and an 1893 World's Fair half-dollar hidden in a mustache cup on the sideboard.

Such stories always cause the spendthrifts among us to exclaim with considerable satisfaction that "you can't take it with you!" While the wise heads, so far as money matters are concerned, start calculating how much more the fortune would have been if invested in bonds at 2 per cent.

These diverse reactions are typical of the two schools of thought in relation to money: The day-to-day spenders who never accumulate a bank account and are good customers of the small loan companies; and the conservatives who obtain happiness through the feeling of security that money gives.

BETTER OR WORSE—Money has been described as the root of all evil and a powerful instrument for doing good in the world; "filthy lucre" and the backbone of our economy. Your attitude toward money is generally dictated by your purse. For a poor man can be a spendthrift on a quarter, if it is his last; while the rich may still be wealthy after throwing away a quarter of a million.

THE MISERLY—Youth is seldom miserly because it has not yet learned to distrust the future. The miser is not so fond of his gold as he is of security.

Youth, seeking adventure in a changing world, hopes for the best.

Age, seeking security in this world and the next, fears the worst.

Those who are young in heart, regardless of their years, have an abiding confidence in their ability to meet any challenge—including poverty.

Thus you will find miserliness among the poor and the rich, for miserliness is based not upon how much or how little you have but upon your attitude toward life.

THE SPENDTHRIFT—There is the old saying "Easy come, easy go." But like many sayings, it is not always true because it is old. So many people work so hard for their money it may cause amazement that they can so easily part with it. Yet their enjoyment comes in spending, rather than in saving and accumulating. No matter how difficult it is to come by money, many hard-working men and women find pleasure not in the security and power that money brings but in the spending of it for the entertainment of themselves and their friends.

By hard-working we do not necessarily mean the day laborer, for many persons work hard in other lines and their annual incomes run into the hundreds of thousands. They, as well as the laborer, are often spendthrift. Again it is a difference not in desire but in capacity to spend—the beer at the corner tavern compared with the cocktail at the country club.

THE IN-BETWEENS—For the vast majority of our people there is the happy in-between. They neither throw their money away nor do they pinch pennies. They

INTO THE PAST

Ten Years Ago

Escanaba—Misses Amy and Alice McNery of Austin, Minn., who with a party of friends are on a vacation through the peninsula and Canada, east to New York City, where they will attend the World's Fair, visited here yesterday with their aunt, Mrs. E. F. Bolger.

Escanaba—Miss Elizabeth Guntley who is a student at the University of Michigan is spending her vacation visiting with relatives and friends in Lathrop and Escanaba.

Gladstone—The annual Covenant Point conference for Sunday schools and Young Peoples societies of the Covenant church of America is to be held at Hagerman Lake, July 10 through July 17.

Manistique—The Michigan State Highway department has approved the construction of 42 feet of pavement on U. S. 2 within the city limits. $40,000 in appropriations has been authorized to complete the work.

Twenty Years Ago

Escanaba—Mrs. P. McCauley has returned from a trip to Chicago, Denver, Yellowstone Park and Salt Lake City.

Escanaba—Mrs. Joseph Dugener entertained a group of fifteen children at her home on Friday afternoon the occasion being the fifth birthday of her son, Miles.

Gladstone—Mrs. Peter Schuler and son, Harold of Chicago are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Schuler.

Gladstone—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Champion and family and Mr. and Mrs. Nelson of Milwaukee who were guests here at the Ford home, returned to their homes and were accompanied by P. J. Ford who will visit there.

Manistique—A total of 41 cases were tried in Manistique justice court during the month of June it was reported by Justice of the Peace W. G. Stephens.

spend as freely as their circumstances will permit, providing for themselves those conveniences and comforts that make America the country with the highest standard of living in the world.

Over the years they may accumulate some small savings, assuring themselves of some security when the day of retirement is at hand. They are neither rich nor poor. They are that great middle class too often ignored, too little heard from, too seldom considered.

It is this group that comes closest to living happily with money. They spend wisely, obtaining pleasure in the tangibles that money will buy—a home, family conveniences, an auto, occasional vacations, and the full sharing of the family income for family purposes.

They have learned through unselfish and happy living that money in itself can contribute to happiness; that money honorably earned and wisely spent has made them not only happier but better men and women.

MONEY AND MORALS—While there can be evil with poverty and good with riches, the individual is more likely to be harmed than helped by excessive wealth. Fortunately, few are so harmed, because there are few billionaires.

Often it is those who have wealth and in old age fear possible poverty who become the scolding misers. What is left of a fortune they hide away, living not only in poverty and in filth but in dread and misgiving that their remaining wealth may be stolen. Of them will be written at their death: "Aged recluse dies in squalor; leaves fortune."

Let's Improve Our Fair

Dear Editor:

Escanaba has been very fortunate to receive two sums, each of $10,000 for the 4-H Club members at the fair grounds. Why can't we make the very best of this opportunity and clean up the rest of our fair? If we are going to encourage these future farmers of America, we can't let the beer concessions run the fair as they have in the past.

The State fair at Detroit and the Ionia Free fair (the largest county fair in Mich.) have a ban on the sale of any intoxicating beverage.

The exhibits, attendance, enthusiasm and wholesome atmosphere of these fairs, set for Escanaba a fine goal.

Signed, A Former Lower Michigan Fair Goer.

Where Danger Lurks

Dear Editor:

A few weeks ago a young man was drowned in Escanaba, swimming in an unsupervised area. Despite the lesson of that tragedy, the yacht harbor and other unsupervised waters of Escanaba Park are still being used by bathers. Can't something be done to keep these people away from water where danger lurks and make them confine their swimming to the supervised beach? If not, we can surely expect a repetition of this tragedy before the summer is over.

Posting "No Swimming" signs is not enough.

Worried.

Community Building

Dear Editor:

What has happened to all of the enthusiasm that was heard in Escanaba a year or so ago about a community building for this city? Everyone I have talked to is for a community building, but nobody does anything about it.

A community building as a war memorial would be a fine thing for this city. Can't somebody or some get going on this project?

Lifelong Resident.

(Editor's Note: The community building project is still in the dream stage. The people will have to decide just what they actually want in a community building. . . . It is not possible to determine how much they can or will be willing to spend on such a project. The present attitude seems to be to wait until plans for the new school buildings materialize before determining what additional facilities may be desired in a community building.)

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—Before Secretary of the Treasury Snyder left for Europe he had a highly important and secret talk with President Truman in which he outlined his plans for getting the British to devalue the pound.

This is the real purpose of Snyder's sudden trip—despite all the publicity camouflage about consultation with U. S. financial experts. Reason for the camouflage is that the treasury doesn't want the British public to know that we are trying to run their currency from this side of the Atlantic.

Inside fact is that Sir Stafford Cripps, head of the British economy, has already stated flatly that if Snyder insists on devaluing the pound, he will resign. This will mean a general election in England; so the British public might just as well get wise at the start.

Three members of the Truman cabinet also disagree with Snyder—Secretary of State Acheson, Secretary of Agriculture Brannan and Secretary of Labor Tobin.

Brannan and Tobin don't want to devalue the pound because the less value the pound has the less it will buy of American cotton, tobacco, pork etc. Sir Stafford Cripps has somewhat the same thing in mind—though from a different angle. If the pound is depreciated, the British consumer will not be able to import as much food for his money—though Cripps wants the food to be imported from the British Dominions and Argentina, not from the U. S. A.

Backing up Snyder against the three cabinet members is Paul Hoffman, head of ECA, who fears the collapse of his Marshall plan unless the pound is devalued. In fact, Marshall plan Ambassador Averell Harriman has been pressuring the British so vigorously, even before Snyder arrived, that lanky Sir Oliver Franks, the British ambassador in Washington, was rushed to London by air to help take the heat off.

Despite the strong differences within his own cabinet, and the above ramifications, Truman gave Secretary Snyder a completely free hand in dealing with the financial crisis.

NO "SENATOR DEWEY"

Governor Dewey telephoned his old friend, Senator Irving Ives, from Albany the other day to get some advice on who he should appoint to the temporary senate vacancy left by retiring Robert Wagner.

"Why don't you come down to Washington yourself?" urged Ives.

"No," replied Dewey, "I don't want to." Instead, he said he was considering two alternatives—one to appoint a personal friend such as John Foster Dulles or Roger Strauss to finish out the senate year or to appoint a strong politician who would have a chance to win against the Democrats next November.

In the latter category he placed General "Wild Bill" Donovan, famous World War I hero and head of the OSS super-spy agency in World War II, or Tom Curran, New York secretary of state.

Ives suggested that Dewey should appoint the latter type—one who could use the four-month period before November to consolidate his strength and try to win against the Democrats. Ives also added that, since he was a Presbyterian, he thought the new senator should be a Catholic.

Note—Dewey also mentioned two women as possible senatorial choices—Jane Todd and Mary Donlon.

LAWYERS DEWEY AND DULLES
Several of John Foster Dulles' New York law associates were discussing the report that Gov. Dewey would nominate the elderly New York lawyer to the senate.

"Remember last year," said one, "we thought that Dewey would be elected and we would be able to divide up Dulles' share of the firm's profits?"

"Yes," replied another, "the day after election we were afraid Dewey would join the firm, and we would have to cut up our share to divide with Dewey."

AFTERMATHS OF T-II BATTLE

Senator Virgil Chapman of Kentucky, who owes his election entirely to Alben Barkley, voted against Barkley and the administration right down the line. . . . There was a lot of fuss over Senator O'Connor of Maryland, who was brought back to Washington for the Taft-Hartley vote. O'Connor lived up to his advance billing and voted with the administration. However, when the heat was off, he quietly switched over to Taft's side and voted for the injunction that he had earlier opposed. This was also true of Tydings of Maryland, Frear of Delaware (Democrats) and Lodge of Massachusetts (Republican). . . . One vote would have changed the entire Taft-Hartley picture, thus creating a tie and a chance for Vice President Barkley to break the tie.

Three senators, according to Senator Lucas, were pledged to vote with labor, but switched at the last minute—Capehart of Indiana, Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, and Hendrickson of New Jersey. . . . Senator Lucas' skillful handling of the Taft-Hartley fight, even though he lost, will help his difficult re-election chances in Illinois. The man who really defeated Lucas was Byrd of Virginia who had promised Senator Taft to deliver the votes of 14 southern Democrats, and did.

Michigan In Washington

By Esther Tufty

Ten days of re-discovering Michigan has been as invigorating as the balmy air of the Mackinaw Straits.

I even came back to Washington with a new cause. For that I can thank the conservation department and that master idea man, Glenn MacDonald, editor of the Bay City Times.

During the recent Michigan Press Association summer blow-out at Mullet Lake, this resourceful editor arranged for a few of us to explore a short link of the inland waterways.

Thanks to Joseph Rahilly, member of the Conservation Commission we criss-crossed with experienced riverman "Mr. Buzz" from Cheboygan to Mullet Lake. That's just the beginning of a 60 mile waterway that leads via the Indian River to Burt Lake, then thru Crooked River to Crooked Lake.

stay here.

O'Brien, who is the operator of the Birch Creek Cabins on the Escanaba-Gladstone highway, came to this area from Chicago a couple years ago. A graduate of Kent College of Law in Chicago, was employed as a trust officer for the LaSalle National Bank for several years and during the war was attorney for the Chicago Ordnance district of the War Department.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien have two sons, Walter Jr., and Thomas. While in Chicago, Mr. O'Brien was active in Boy Scout work. An Eagle Scout, he was one of Chicago's two representatives to the First International Boy Scout Jamboree in London in 1920. His hobbies are mechanical and shop work, fishing and hunting.

It's enchanting to glide at low speed (necessary to meet your romantic mood and not to upset the biting-mood of the fish or the temper of the fishermen in small boats).

"Buzz," our conservation guide, said "it's too bad that back in the days of WPA and CCC, federal efforts to improve natural resources didn't include small rivers clearance."

Potter On Job

Maybe it isn't too late. At least I discovered one congressman, Charles E. Potter, was already doing something for easier travel on these small rivers that connect so many lakes in our northern vacationland.

"I am not exaggerating when I claim that development of this inland waterway could make it one of the most beautiful tourist attractions in the country," said Potter, who is constantly urging the Army engineers to expedite their report on a survey (first proposed by the late Congressman Fred Bradley) to dredge out the dead heads and shallow spots for the safety of small boats.

My spies say that report will be favorable. Potter expected it to be ready this fall. Of course, it takes time because the authorization must be followed up with an appropriation. But since the cost is not likely to be large, this should not be too difficult. Besides there's something very persuasive about the local initiative taken by the summer residents who have raised $50,000 thru their Inland Water Way Association for the purpose.

Meanwhile, the Coast Guard has been asked by Congressman Potter to mark the channel more clearly. Our "Buzz" could find his way by the unpainted poles but others less experienced would not.

Other Attractions

The inland waterway isn't the only Michigan attraction.

Some snapshots not taken on this flying trip would include: the rustic locks at Cheboygan, so different from Panama, but yet serving the same purpose; that ice-breaker, the Mackinaw, on which we circled Mackinac Island made us want to come back in the winter. (M. M. Riggs, of the Cheboygan Tribune, says it will cut thru the 2 feet of ice at 10 miles an hour); a fawn leaping from the side of my favorite road, scenic route 2 out of St. Ignace in the Upper Peninsula; the "red" beaches at Portage Lake, which is "full of copper"; the porch of the country club at Traverse City, where I had my best piece of broiled whitefish as the guest of the "Cherry King" and Mrs. Don Morgan; the bearded men of Marquette, celebrating the centennial of their hometown (the best flowing white beard winner, in my opinion, was E. A. Moore, editor of the Marquette Mining Journal).

I discovered that some Michigan men have found a new reason to give the little woman when the urge comes for a fishing and hunting jaunt northward.

"Bill" Butler of the Holland Sentinel and his son were seen heading toward a certain lake in Canada to meet "Phil" Rich of Midland, who claims to be prospecting for uranium! (If they find it . . . how will they get their money out of Canada?)

"Ed" Malone is my idea of a "genial innkeeper" and the old Topinabee summer hotel one morning for breakfast served piping hot baking powder biscuits and thin maple syrup from Michigan trees.

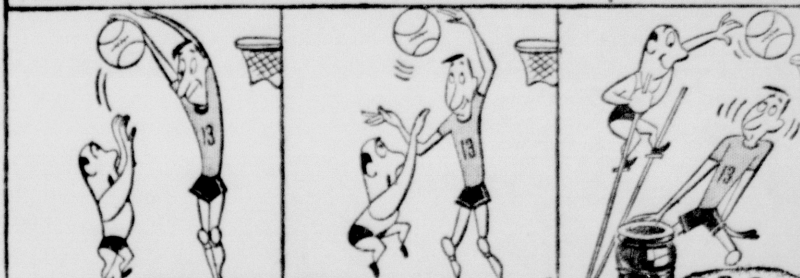

But best of all were the people. Back in Washington a couple of senators were complaining about the apathy of the people of Main Street on the Atlantic Pact issue. What Senator Donnell of Missouri and Watkins of Utah didn't realize is that the people back home were ahead of the Congress. They had long ago accepted the necessity of such an agreement.

As an editorial in the Escanaba Press put it, "approval has been taken for granted from the start."

FIREMEN HANDY BY

Bay Port, (P)—The Pigeon fire department luckily attended the Bay Port homecoming celebration. During the festivities a nearby barn caught fire. Plenty of firemen were on hand to put it out.

Tourists Appreciate Clearing House Plan

The clearing house plan for locating housing accommodations for tourists in Delta county is meeting with much favor with the traveling public, Walter A. O'Brien, president of the Delta County Tourist Council, said today.

"A number of tourist parties have come in at a late hour and have been accommodated by the clearing house attendants," Mr. O'Brien said. "They expressed themselves as pleasantly surprised that Delta county offered this unusual service."

While the clearing house plan has great possibilities, particularly in encouraging visitors to stay in Delta county longer, there are still some operators of tourist courts and rooms who are not registered, O'Brien said.

"If everyone cooperates in this program to keep tourists longer in Delta county all of us will benefit," O'Brien said. "When a party is induced to stay here overnight, instead of going to some other point, it usually means extra money spent for breakfasts, gasoline and other services." Sunday, July 3, was the busiest day for the tourist lodging places in Delta county. The Delta County Tourist Council made a check on that day and found all cabins filled and registered rooms in private homes 75 per cent occupied.

One party of tourists, enroute from Detroit on an around-Lake Michigan tour, reported it decided to spend extra time in Delta county because an attendant at the state highway department information lodge at Menominee told them of the interesting attractions in this region. They back-tracked from Menominee to Escanaba Wednesday and were heading north after an overnight

First Annual Boat Blessing Ceremony Held At Fayette

OUTDOOR SERVICES—Bishop Thomas E. Noa of Marquette conducted the outdoor benediction held alongside the old Jackson Iron company furnace building Monday afternoon prior to the blessing of the fishing boats at Fayette's harbor. Assisting him at the services were Rev. Eugene Berendsen, Manistique, deacon; Rev.

Casimir Mark, Escanaba, sub-deacon. Other priests at the ceremonies were: Rev. Frs. Andrew Schuelek, Trenary; Anthony Schloss, Rapid River; Arnold Casanova, Marquette; Charles Reinhart, Nahma; James Schaefer and Patrick Frankard, Garden.

BLESSING THE BOATS—Bishop Thomas E. Noa of Marquette sprinkled holy water on the boats at the conclusion of the colorful blessing ceremonies. The program was sponsored by the Holy Name Society of St. Peter's church, in charge of Rev. Fr. Patrick Frankard of Garden. Members of the committee were Leslie and Myron Devet and Francis Thill, commercial fishermen of the Fayette-Fairport area. Members of the choir of St. John the Baptist church of Garden sang at the benediction services. Another blessing event is planned at Fayette next year, at which time boats from all over the Upper Great Lakes area will be invited.

FAYETTE FISHING FLEET — The first annual blessing of the boats was held at an ideal site — the scenic ghost town of Fayette, where now only a few fishermen's families live as compared to the several hundred people who resided there when it was a booming charcoal iron furnace town. More than a score boats were tied up to the Fayette dock for the blessing ceremonies. These included: Mary Kay, own by Lloyd Ranguette; Nancy, Jack LaSalle; Sally, Tallman Brothers; Silver Spray, Ronald Gauthier; Isabella, Lee Killoran; Dawn, Tom Peterson and Sons; Seabird, Thill and Peterson; F. Devet & Sons, Leslie and Myron Devet; M. & R., Norman and Gerald Casey; Ruby Ann, Barbeau Brothers; Leona M., Edwin Tallman; Betty Lou, Seaman and Vedder; North Star, Al Maddy; W. B. Jean, Swanson and Pizala; Ole, Herman Johnson of Ellison Bay, Wis.; Victory, Anthony Brothers, Manistique; Roamer, Stanley Rochefort; Pup, Louis and Leon Devet; and Maiden Blush, Bill Eggert.

PRESENTATION OF CERTIFICATES — Gerald Casey, commercial fisherman of Fairport, receives a blessing certificate and St. Christopher medal for the Casey brothers boat, the M. & R., from Bishop Noa. In the center is

Rev. Fr. Arnold Casanova of Marquette, who accompanied the bishop to Fayette. The presentation ceremonies were held on a platform erected alongside the Fayette dock, used years ago for unloading iron ore and loading pig iron.

There are six criminal cases, 12 jury civil cases, seven non-jury civil cases, and seven chancery cases, of which five are divorce actions and one bill for annulment.

A. T. SOHLBERG ON STATE BODY

Will Help Arrange Fire Protection Meet

A. T. Sohlberg has been appointed by Governor Mennen Williams to serve on an advisory council to make plans for a Governor's Fire Protection Conference to be held next fall. A meeting of the council is to be held next Tuesday at Lansing.

The letter advising Mr. Sohlberg of his appointment follows: "Various interested persons have approached me regarding a proposal to hold a state-wide Governor's Fire Protection Conference next fall. This conference would be a follow up of the president's fire conference and its objective would be to make recommendations and outline a program for reducing Michigan's annual fire loss in lives and property.

"For the purpose of considering the various factors involved, I have decided to appoint an advisory council which will meet at the Hotel Olds in Lansing at 10:30 a. m. July 12. The council will be asked to appraise the need for a conference and, if it is believed such a gathering would serve a valuable purpose, assume the responsibility for arranging the agenda.

"Membership of the advisory council has been carefully selected so that it will consist of leaders of the various groups most concerned in this important problem. Therefore, I am asking that you accept appointment on the council and attend the meeting July 12.

"I shall very much appreciate your favorable reply."

BAKERY OPENS ON SATURDAY

Quality's New Quarters Attractive

The Quality Bakery opens up in new quarters Saturday morning.

The building at 122 South Cedar street, formerly occupied by the Bradley Photo Studio, and about six months ago acquired by Werner Ammann, proprietor of the Quality Bakery, has undergone remodeling on an extensive scale and with new fixtures and equipment readily qualifies as one of the notable new enterprises in Manistique this year.

It will be more than a bakery as the new sign over the entrance announces. Mr. Ammann will handle delicatessen as well and will also maintain a fountain service and facilities for light lunches.

Transforming a photo studio into a modern bakery shop was an undertaking that involved the replanning of the entire ground floor. Walls and partitions had to be torn out and moved and a sizeable addition had to be built to the rear of the structure. The foundation also had to be reinforced, a loading dock built in storage facilities provided, and a ventilating system installed.

The store part of the building, is considerably larger than was the front space occupied by the studio. All of the fixtures in this room are new. The woodwork is of blond oak, the counter tops are in red and the general color scheme is light and enhanced by a new type of fluorescent lighting.

In addition to the cases for baked goods are two refrigerated cases—one for cream and custard pastries and the other for delicatessen. The fountain and lunch counter is installed across the room from the baked goods cases.

Delicatessen being something new in the community, Mr. Ammann states that he will govern his offerings according to the preference expressed by the public, but he will keep on hand plenty of salads and sliced ready to serve meats.

The bakerroom proper is a show place in itself, with washable white tile walls, inlaid flooring and entirely new baking machinery and equipment.

Among the equipment are two new mixing machines of large capacity, a flour sifter, work tables, doughnut machines and other equipment complete for every need. This new equipment includes facilities for keeping bread dough under refrigeration and thus enable the shop to turn out two batches of bread a day. Off from this room is a wash room which contains shower bath facilities.

To the rear is a 24 by 40 foot addition, which is still in the process of construction. This room will be used for storage and will also house a cold storage locker of generous size. The second story of this addition will be made into living quarters.

The exterior of the building has a facing of cream and blue tile with a aluminum marquee extending full length of the building above the windows.

This new establishment represents the fulfillment of an ambition of long standing, but this is not the only fond hope that is coming to pass as far as Mr. Ammann is concerned. He has always longed to be a sort of a gentleman proprietor of a farm. He has purchased a farm east of Manistique and expects to move there shortly. What he intends to specialize in will come later—perhaps a herd of well bred brown Swiss cattle. Anyway, he says he has had a longing to engage in a pursuit of this sort ever since he left his native Switzerland.

WE ARE PROUD

of our new quarters and we want you to call and look them over. We believe that you will not find a more complete or better equipped establishment of this sort in all Upper Michigan.

QUALITY BAKED GOODS

Improved facilities—handier and more efficient equipment—combined with expert training and years of experience will enable us to guarantee at all times, QUALITY Bread, Rolls and Buns along with a wide variety of Pastry, Cookies, Pies and Doughnuts.

DELICATESSEN

In our new Delicatessen department, we believe we are filling a long felt want in Manistique. What we have to serve will be largely governed by what we find the public likes the best. You will always find here tempting salads, sliced cold meats and from time to time, specials which we know will please you.

FOUNTAIN SERVICE

We offer a fountain service that is up-to-the-minute in every respect and wide in its tempting variety of sodas, malteds, sundaes, etc. We are pleased to announce that we will handle

FAIRMONT ICE CREAM

The most delicious ice cream in town. Be sure to visit our fountain bar.

LIGHT LUNCHES

We also serve coffee and light lunches. For those who like to breakfast or to lunch on coffee and cinnamon or pecan rolls fresh out of the oven or doughnuts crisp and warm. Ours is the place to go.

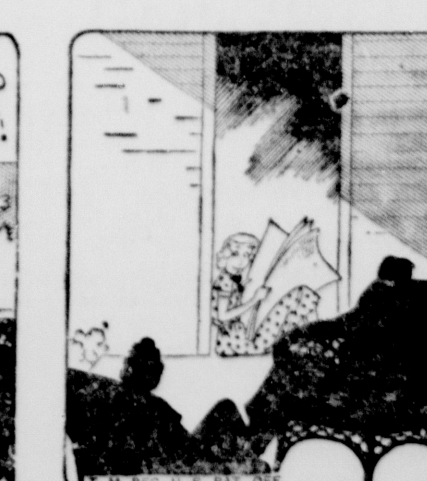

But whether you come to buy or whether you just come in to say "How do you do" and sniff the everlasting goodness of baked goods just out of the oven. You are welcome Saturday or any time.

John Foster Dulles Appointed Senator To Succeed Wagner

New York, (P)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey Thursday appointed John Foster Dulles, his veteran foreign affairs adviser, to the United States Senate as successor to Robert F. Wagner.

Dulles will serve an interim term until Dec. 1. A senator will be elected at a special election Nov. 8 to serve for the balance of Wagner's term from Dec. 1, 1949 to Dec. 31, 1950.

Dewey said it was "unlikely" that Dulles would run in the Nov. 8 special election as the Republican nominee.

Wagner, 72, a Democrat, author of the Wagner Labor Relations Act, resigned June 28 because of ill health. He had been in the Senate nearly 23 years.

There has been speculation that former Governor Herbert H. Lehman may be the Democratic nominee. But he said he doesn't know yet whether he wants the job.

Dulles has served as a delegate to every session of the United Nations general assembly since the U. N. was founded.

CHICAGO PRICES

CHICAGO BUTTER
Chicago, July 8 (P)—Butter, steady; receipts 876,065; prices unchanged.

CHICAGO EGGS
Chicago, July 8 (P)—Eggs, steady to firm; receipts 13,789; prices unchanged.

CHICAGO GRAIN
Chicago, July 8 (P)—Wheat developed weakness on the board of Trade today following three sessions of brisk advances. Heavy profit-taking and moderate hedging pressure sent the broad cereal down for losses, extending close to two cents at times.

Other grains also got off to a ragged start. Profit-taking dominated the market. More beneficial rains in the midwest made potential buyers shy away from corn. Soybeans stabilized after their drop late yesterday but laid sank to new lows.

Dealings again were quite active and wheat near the end of the first hour was 1/4 to 1 1/2 cents lower, July $2.01 1/2; corn was unchanged to 3/4 lower, July $1.37 1/2; and oats were 1/4 lower, July $1.27 1/2. Soybeans were one to two cents higher, July $2.47 1/2, and laid was two to ten cents a hundred pounds lower, July $10.27.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

Educators Dedicate Big Ford Lodge As Conference Center

Pontiac, Mich., July 8 (P)—More than 40 top educators and state officials today were dedicating Haven Hill Lodge, the former Edsel Ford country estate, as a conference center.

Conservation Director P. J. Hoffmaster said the state-owned lodge, located in the Highland state recreation area west of here, would be used primarily for conferences of educators in planning outdoor education programs for the public schools.

The luxurious hilltop lodge and its annex can accommodate 40 overnight will also be used for conferences of government, conservation, farm and like groups, Hoffmaster said.

Dr. Lee M. Thurston, state superintendent of public instruction, outlined Michigan's experimental outdoor education program. Started by his department three years ago with the cooperation of the conservation department and the Kellogg Foundation, he said, the program is aimed at eventually assuring every sixth grade child of at least a week in an outdoor camp sometime during his school years.

The $1,000,000 lodge and its 2,400 acres of rolling, wooded land were bought by the state in 1945 for $300,000. Another 2,600 acres around the estate was bought to round out the recreation area. The remodeling and refurbishing of the lodge has just been completed. The furnishings were financed through a $20,000 gift by Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Chamberlin of Detroit, who were present for the dedication.

Head of Outlawed Syrian Revolution Party Is Executed

Beirut, Lebanon, July 8 (P)—Anton Saadeh, president of the outlawed Syrian National party, was executed by a firing squad this morning, after being sentenced last night in a secret court martial.

Saadeh was arrested early yesterday even as Syrian and Lebanese troops intensified their drive to stamp out guerrillas of the National party who have terrorized outlying areas for more than a month.

The party has been accused of attempting to incite revolt against both the Syrian and Lebanese governments. Its ultimate aim was said to be a "greater Syria" under Saadeh's leadership, incorporating Lebanon, Syria, Trans-Jordan and Arab Palestine.

The local press has been prevented from reporting Saadeh's execution abroad.

The government-controlled press condemns the National party as Fascist. The government last month announced the arrest of more than 300 of the party's members on charges of plotting against the state.

Justice Pecora ordered the trial delayed until an examination could be made.

Canada And U. S. Help Britain In Financial Mess problems of the balance of trade between the western hemisphere and the rest of the world."

A second monetary conference will take place in London next week when finance ministers of the British Commonwealth confer with Cripps.

Washington observers forecast today that high level talks would follow between Britain and the United States in six or eight weeks to work out long range solutions. It was pointed out in Washington that the present visit to Europe of Secretary Snyder is an investigating and reporting assignment. Snyder will report back to the American president and cabinet. Later talks attended possibly by Secretary of State Dean Acheson will take place.

America's chief concern with the present British crisis is that it means Britain will probably cut purchases in the United States to the extent of $250,000,000 in the coming year. This will lower America's exports of cotton, tobacco, gasoline and wheat to Britain, and will further shrink U. S. export trade.

Snyder, who just completed talks on France's financial problems with French and American officials, has made clear the U. S. has no intention of changing the price of gold.

The French had suggested that the U. S. the world's principal buyer, raise the price from $35 an ounce to $55 as a means of easing dollar shortages.

Snyder has ruled out discussion of exchange rate policies—such as devaluation of the pound—in two-nation-conferences such as his talks with the French and British.

Teasing In Tavern Brings Death To 2 At Walkerton, Ind.

South Bend, Ind., July 8. (P)—A 70-year-old Walkerton, Ind., truck gardener was held today for questioning in the killing of two friends in a Walkerton tavern.

Sheriff Stephen C. Hipsak said the man, John Klingerman, told him he had been angered by his friends' teasing, but could not remember going home and getting his rifle. He sobbed in a cell at the St. Joseph county jail here as he realized they were dead.

Victims were Ory Jackson, 72, bartender in the tavern, and his cousin, Lester Jackson, 53.

Ory Jackson was killed by a single bullet as he stood behind the bar at the cafe. His cousin, who was sitting at the bar, was shot three times and died late last night. Sheriff Hipsak said Klingerman told him the Jacksons had been teasing him about selling potatoes while on relief.

Walkerton is 20 miles southwest of South Bend.

Chicago, Lad, 15, Admits Hanging Neighbor Boy, 3

under the boy after throwing the end of the rope over a rafter. He had not tied the rope to the rafter, he said, and it was "supposed to slip off" when Whitey fell. Instead, Robert added, a knot in the rope caught on the rafter and Whitey was hanged.

The little boy's body was found yesterday morning in the basement by Munday's mother, Edith 49, after police and neighbors had been searching for him throughout the night. The Laux boy, who would have been 4 on Sept. 29, lived in the second floor flat at 636 West 47th Place with his six brothers and sisters and his father, Raymond, 37, a cab driver. His mother, Evelyn, 36, is estranged from her husband.

The Munday boys and their parents occupied the first floor flat. Both boys are pupils in a school for truant, incorrigible and delinquent children.

Dr. Jerry J. Kearns of the coroner's office, said his examination showed that "Whitey" died from "asphyxiation by strangulation." He said there were no broken bones and no evidence of a sex crime. An inquest was set for later today.
